

KEY TO THE CLASS SCHEDULE

1 CRN (Class reference number): This number identifies a particular class session of a course. Registration for a class will be based on the CRN submitted by the student on a registration form. Where there is a choice of meeting times (such as lab courses) or course levels (tutorials, independent study, music lessons), particular attention should be given to selecting the CRN matching the meeting time or course level desired.

If no CRN is listed, click on Title for more information. The absence of a CRN may indicate the class is cross-listed and you must register under the primary class or registration requires the submission of a form (for example, a tutorial title form or music ensemble sheet).

2 The course title is a hyperlink. Click here for information about prerequisites, course description, cross-listing information, registration requirements, credit, grade mode, etc. The end of the title may include markers indicating the class meets competency or diversity requirements. The markers are as follows

A foreign language for B.A. and five-year B.A./B.Mus. students	Q quantitative analysis
M foreign language for B.Mus. students	S speaking intensive
D dimensions of diversity	W writing intensive
G global diversity

3 Indicates class has been closed. The instructor's approval (recorded in Voyager) is required for registration.

4 If present, indicates an enrollment limit, the number of registered students, and the number of student on a waiting-list. On the first day of classes the instructor's approval will be required to add the class.

5 If present, APR indicates permission of the instructor (approval recorded using Voyager) is required to register for the class. Exceptions include registration for tutorials, independent study, internships, and supervised accompanying which require the signature of the instructor on a registration form. Use the Title for more information.
